BACKGROUND

C++ developer specializing in engine systems and gameplay using C++ and Unreal Engine 5. Experienced in performance optimization, physics simulation, and tools programming. Contributed to multiple academic and personal projects, including a 3D physics engine with spatial partitioning and real-time fluid simulation. Strong focus on efficient, scalable systems and clean architecture.

EXPERIENCE

Software Engineer (C++/Unreal Engine)
Axiosys Studios (September 2025 – Present)

- Developed and optimised gameplay and engine systems using C++ and Unreal Engine 5.
- Implemented core features: Enemy AI, 3C, crafting system and various tools.
- Collaborated with other teams to deliver efficient and scalable solutions.

Programming Projects
SAE Institute & Personal Work (September 2022 – Present)

- 3D Physics Engine (C++ / DirectX / CUDA)
 - Implemented SPH fluid simulation with density, pressure, and viscosity forces
 - Designed an octree and a spatial hash grid for neighbor search optimization
 - Ported simulation to GPU using compute shaders for performance improvements
- Unreal Engine Systems & Tools
 - Contributed to the development and release of Ruby and the Lost Crystals on Steam
 - Developed modular gameplay systems in Unreal Engine 5 using C++ and Blueprints
 - Built custom tools for data analysis using C++ and Python
